In appreciation for your untiring interest and effort as a teacher and for your concern for us to become the best citizens of tomorrow, we the class of 1967 wish to dedicate THE TALON to you, Mr. Floyd Proctor. Please accept this dedication as an expression of the respect and gratitude which we have for you.

IN MEMORIAM

We, the Senior Class of Jefferson Area High School, 1967, dedicate this page of our yearbook to two classmates who passed away.

Brenda Addicott was killed in an automobile accident on June 9, 1966.

Thomasina Garrison died in February, 1965.

As we leave Jefferson Area High School, the memory of Brenda and Thomasina will go with us.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Mrs. Nancy Eastlake, Mr. Vernon Rodgers, Mr. Dale Simons,
Mr. Donald Locy, Dr. Richard Waters, M. Roger Brenneman.

MR. WITHROW
PRINCIPAL

The 1966-67 school year has been a most vigorous one. We have the largest enrollment in our school's history (690). A graduating class of 144 also sets a new school record. These records will be of short duration, however, due to the increasing enrollment in the senior high school.

We have a number of students who have excelled scholastically, and have been recognized by colleges in the form of scholarships. We have a National Merit Scholarship winner and two students who have received commendations.

Our school board, faculty, and administrators have attempted to provide for you the best possible education that our budget will provide. Each student should be cognizant of the fact that learning does not cease as the result of graduation. It is a continual process, whether you enter industry or seek additional training. Full utilization of your God-given talents will not only prove beneficial to you, but to society and your nation as well.

OUR VISIT TO NAPOLI PLACE

Two weeks ago we received an invitation to visit Napoli Place from its distinguished Mayor, Paul Evans. This prosperous city, the birthplace of ex-President August Napoli is located on the peaceful banks of the Savage River, which as we all know, is named after that noted supporter of Women's Rights--Annette Savage. Having accepted this invitation, today we find ourselves in the mayor's office awaiting our guide, Carol Rhodes. Because we arrived a bit early, and having nothing better to do, we read a copy of the NAPOLI PLACE GAZETTE, which Ruth Lapana, the mayor's secretary, had bought for us from a newsboy, Ben Williams. The paper is edited by Ron Smith. On the national scene we read of the visit of Asbedingel Anekulu, (alias Ozzie) Ehtiopia's roving ambassador, to the U.S. and his talks with our Director of Foreign Affairs, Jack Hoenich. Heading the local news is the foiled robbery attempt of Larry Stuart's Jewelry Store by a respected university professor, Arlan Hall. The heroine of the day was Lieutenant Pamela Shirk, who caught the villain in the act. Although no one was hurt in the caper, Faythe Tidball, a customer in the store at the time, was reported to have fainted due to the excitement. Judge James Cox said the professor would be held without bail, although Hall's attorney, John Elliott, protested. Turning the page we see advertisements for the new Carol Baldwin Variety Store, part of a nationwide chain, Kathy Busch's Vegetable Market, Walter Taylor's Tailor Shop, and Sharon Campbell's Supermarket, which is advertising specials on Sherilyn Bone dog biscuits and Tim Keeney's "Keeney Franks", "Aunt Judith Ketchum's Catsup", Dave Lowe's Health Bread, and the new hybrid Juanita tomato--"Summer's Best." In the family section we glance over Kathy Abruzzino's "Dear Kathy" column and Ron Carter's "Lonely Heart's" column. We also read Joan Wehrung and Louise Nagy's "Town Talk." Turning to the Sports Section to see what it has to offer, we read in Karen Spring's article that Dawn Sieckowski has set a new world's record in the women's shotput event, and that Neal Hamilton has defeated Cassius Clay in the World Heavyweight Championship bout. We also read that Roger Lynch, the great baseball player, will be coming to Napoli Place soon as a guest speaker. Looking over the Vital Statistics, we are glad to note that Mary Chapin is making a quick recovery from her unfortunate mishap. She was nearly strangled by her long beads while doing the Charleston. After finishing the paper, we were informed by Mayor Evans's secretary, Diana Mountain, that Miss Rhodes could not conduct our tour today, as she was called on to be a witness in court. We are told that Walter Olson, a gardener for the once wealthy Miss Carol Case, is on trial. Miss Case, being rather eccentric, has charged him with attempting to asphyxiate her tomato plants. The court appointed Clem Anthony as Olson's attorney. So we decide to tour the city by ourselves. We walked through the business district, gazing at the tall skyscrapers. On one of these, we perceive window washer, Sandee Armstrong, waving to us, and we waved back. The first place we walk into is Karen Benjamin's Dress Shop, where we are greeted by the salesgirls, Linda Haines and Ellen Kean. We see that Judy Gollon and Bonnie Reynolds are modeling new dresses and seamstress Vicky Simon is outfitting Shirley Allen with a new suit. We also see Debbie Werstler, the Avon Lady, trying in vain to sell her products to Janet Reinhart. Outside again, we are shaken up when we witness Larry Herndon and Dave Harju attempt to hold up Kim Fowler, a rich Texan oil well owner and Linda Rightnour, his secretary. However, police officers Charlie and Paul Hawes arrive on the scene and drag the culprits off to the calaboose, though Dave and Larry keep screaming that is was only a practical joke. Across the street we see Lee Johns's dime store, which specializes in pencils and the new Hohnhorst pen that won't "Skip." Now we are passing Al Johnson's Barber Shop in which Jim Corlett is receiving a butch cut and Ted Miller is waiting to tell Al about how he invented a new way to restore natural hair color. Next door is Cindy Smith's

"Sweet Shop" where Jim Reuschling is busy trying candy kisses. We stop in at Stanley Schossler's ice cream parlor and order sodas from waitress Patty Schanfish. There we see Steve Reinhold, Romelio Leigh, and Carl Mellin having an ice cream eating contest. We also recognize Bob Brooks and Sandi Graham sitting together and looking very downcast. We can't help overhearing how Sandi's cracker company has gone bankrupt and Bob was fired from his job as a mattress salesman because he was caught sleeping on the job.

Under way again we bypass a group of teachers who are protesting for higher wages, among whom we see Larry Kobella, Larry Samples, Judy Fink, Paula Harnist, JoAnn Reynolds, and Dennis Sheppard. After seeing more of the town, we had supper at Beverly Caruso's Coffee House. We were entertained by Joe Blanche's band. Mike Seeley and Fred Shelatz played the guitars, Lyle Sizemore the bass, John Busch the drums, and Pat Parsons the tambourine. Joe himself and Mary Ann Russell were singers. The go-go dancers were Mary Hanson and Janice Jones. The next act was spectacular. Brenda Johnson, the master of ceremonies, introduced the Radio City Rockettes and everybody clapped enthusiastically as the girls did their act. They included the talented Cris Hefner, Ruth Kent, Kathy Kleindienst, Carolyn McConnell, Sharon Mozingo, Dorothy Simon, and head Rockette, Nancy Kenyon. After the act we were introduced to their agent, Tom Ray. Next we take in a movie at Phil Miller's Theater. Shelly Reed and Linda Burgoon were ticket takers. We bought several bags of popcorn from Larry Broda, and his assistant Jeff Corbett. Though we don't remember the name of the picture, we do remember it was a Greg Gilhousen Production. The leading actor was Rick Wludyga and starring opposite him was Sue Gibbs. Some of the roles were as follows: Ray Eastlake played the villain, Debbie Franley was a mad scientist and Judy Proctor her assistant, Neal Watson a mortician, Merle Goff a priest, Terry Vendely a nun and Ron Fresher an ambulance driver. We recognized some of these actors in the following roles: three escapees from Ringling Brothers Circus were played by Leo Urban, a lion tamer, Al Dunick, an alligator wrestler, and Patti Eynon, a fat lady. Gary Headley played a plastic surgeon and Carolyn Stasny was a psychologist with Chris Svenson as her patient. Debbie Meighen played a marriage counselor, and three of her clients were played by Cheryl Piper, Francie Vass, and Robin Vanek. After that enjoyable movie, we went to a hotel and ordered a room from the registrar, Cathie Hayes. Bellboy, Lynn Hubbard, carried our bags to the rooms, while in the hall we greeted the third floor maid, Sandy Nemitz. After getting settled down, we turned on the TV and caught the news. Cindy Roberts, the newscaster, told us of Glen Barger's Urban Renewal Program (Sheryl that is), which was followed by an advertisement by Linda Atwell. Then came the weather with the charming weathergirl, Louise Christ. The big story in sports told to us by Louise Heidelberg was that Tom Simons, the professional basketball player had been fired by his coach, Dave Waselesion, for failure to score any points in the last 27 games. That evening we decided to attend a performance of the Napoli Place Symphonic Orchestra. We caught a taxi driven by Larry Divine and on the car's radio we heard Disc Jockey Sharon "Hoppin" Toppin playing some of singer Alice Woodworth's new hit songs. During the middle of one of these songs we were hit in the rear by a late milk driver, Larry Springer, who drives for Larson's Dairy. We were forced to pull in at Sue Ferguson's Garage, where mechanics Janice Fleming and Jo Ann Stowers fixed the car up in a jiff. At last we arrived at the Concert Hall and enjoyed a fine performance by the orchestra. Jack Brown was the conductor and Bill Marvin did a piano solo. We recognized Barbara Keep was playing the flute and Jim Lipp the violin. Our evening however, was marred when one of the audience, Henry Rich, tried to start a fight and the theater guard, Dave Phillips, had to throw him out by the seat of his pants. Having completed our visit of the city, we are sure that we will never forget our pleasant day in Napoli Place.

CLASS WILL

I, Kathy Abruzzino, will to Belinda Coy, my Personal Typing seat in hopes that it will help her.
I, Sandee Armstrong, will to Kathy Corlew, 3 stale jelly beans, a wad of old used Xmas paper, my dried up corsages, and a broken guitar string.
I, Linda Atwell, will to Rita Mabry, my temper, stubborness, 2 rusty bobby pins, and a hair from a dead rat.
I, Carol Baldwin, will to Sally March, my good grades in Home Eco.

I, Francie Vass, will to Sue Robison, my front row seat in Mr. Grime's lectures on bringing in Parents Confidential Forms.
I, Terry Vendely, will to Christine Hayford, my ability to go with a Goff and be successful and 1 pad of library passes that I no longer need.
I, Dave Waselesion, will to Bruce Vance, my front row seat at the Geneva-on-the-Lake Burlesque and my ability to get along with coaches.
I, Neil Watson, will to property boys, Frank Jokinen and Jim Pelich, Mr. Bennett and the band, take care of them.
I, Joan Wehrung, will to Linda English, an I.D. card so she can go to the Chatterbox on Saturday nights.
I, Rick Wludyga, will to Dale Toukonen, my famous corner in the locker room and my blinding speed.

"Serves You First"

universally acclaimed for funeral service excellence

The funeral director in your community who displays the knight-and-shield emblem year after year has something to be proud of: a record of funeral service excellence!

As a member of The Order of the Golden Rule --- an international affiliation of the world's leading firms --- he is known to be dependable and ethical. He may be relied upon to provide modern, comprehensive service at prices that meet the financial needs of every family.

For these very excellent reasons, the Order takes pleasure in announcing the continued affiliation of its member in your community --- one who is pledged to provide "Service measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule."
